My name is Diego Aaron Figueroa Campos. I am a 22 years old Computer Systems Engineering student. I love learning about programming and improving my work through the use of good practices and logical thinking. I am a proactive, diligent person with a great disposition for teamwork. Sharing knowledge and self-learning are things that I enjoy. My biggest passion is technology, which I think can help us all to become a better person, friend, worker, and a productive member of society. Currently, I want to become a Senior Developer at an innovative company here, in Mexico, where I can get the opportunity to be creative and solve problems people struggle with every day.
