ABOUT ME

I am a self-taught UI Designer and Front-end Developer with great passion for building both beautiful and valuable web solutions. I let my entrepreneurial spirit guide to new places, constantly seeking new knowledge and exploring outside my comfort zone. My goal is to contribute the most possible value to companies and clients while discovering and mastering past and new to technologies to fit their necessities. Following this goal made me want to become a Full-Stack Developer, learning Ruby on Rails in a bootcamp.
